Sam Jones

Queenstown Luxury Property Specialist

Having marketed and sold many of central Queenstown's finest homes, Sam has established himself as one of the town's leading agents in this specialist market.

Since starting his real estate career in 2002, Sam has accrued a wealth of knowledge and expertise. His dedication to the industry and commitment to upholding the highest standards are reflected in his Associate status with the Real Estate Industry of New Zealand and in his established relationships.

With a passion for real estate and a proven track record, Sam is a respected and experienced operator in Queenstown's premium property sector.
